PULASKI, TENN.,
FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 30, 1866.

"THE ROMANCE OF WAR."—We commend the article on our fourth page, headed as above, as worthy of a reading. It contains some interesting incidents, some good thoughts and some good advice to some folks. It was written by a statesman, a soldier and a good man.

Look Out!—Look out at what? What is there so attractive that we should be called upon to "look out"? The answer is given in the advertisement of WARD & SHAPARD. Look out for that magnificent stock of goods. Look out for new styles and pretty—new goods and cheap.

"THE CREDIT SYSTEM VS. CASH."—The article on our first page, under the above head, is from the pen of one of our most intelligent countrymen, and will elicit some reflection on the subject treated. We view things from a different standpoint to our correspondent, and therefore differ with him in some of his deductions. Nevertheless, his article will repay a perusal.

STREET CLEANING.—We congratulate the city authorities upon the rapidity and thoroughness of the repairs that have been and are now being made on our streets. We notice that the public square is now being cleaned off. Of course the good work will be extended. The sickly summer season approaches, and the cholera threatens us; let every street and ally be thoroughly cleansed and lined.

Gen. S. B. Buckner.
This eminent patriot, poet and philosopher honored our quiet rural city with a short visit last week, and during his brief stay was the guest of our honorable and distinguished fellow-citizen, Gen. John C. Brown. He is the same impulsive, vivacious, gallant Buckner who has always won the admiration of friends, and the respect of foes, either as a military chieftain, a sagacious political writer, or poet, scholar and gentleman. During the two or three days' sojourn of the distinguished visitor, the parlors of his gallant host were continually thronged with friends and admirers. He left on Monday last for New Orleans.

Still Enlarging.
The signs of prosperity are visible to the naked eye about the house of J. D. FLAUNT & Co. They continue to enlarge their business; and in addition to their extensive Grocery branch, have gone into the grass-seed, agricultural implement and hardware and cutlery trade. They have just received a lot of corn, grass-seeds, plows, &c., and are now opening a magnificent stock of hardware and cutlery under the auspices of that thorough old hardware merchant, D. S. MANNING, who selected the stock for this market. We suppose if any man knows how to buy hardware for the Pulaski trade, DAVID S. is the man. We are furthermore satisfied he knows equally well how to sell it.

COULDN'T CATCH 'EM.—The Nashville Dispatch says a gentleman from Giles, who had been to Louisville and employed half a dozen Germans to work on his farm, and advanced money to pay their passage, left Nashville the other day under perplexing circumstances. Two of the Germans quit him there, and left him to whistle for his money advanced. The injured inhabitant of Giles called on the Recorder, Esquire Meacham, and perhaps other magistrates, to get redress, but nary redress did he get.

Finally the redoubtable inhabitant, aforesaid, as we learn through private sources, had the delinquent Dutchmen brought up before the Freedmen's Bureau; but everybody and everything was against him, and he had to leave them. He reached home, however, with four of his birds.

GRASS SEEDS.—See advertisement.

Burglars.
A forcible entrance was made into the Store of Messrs. BALLENTINE & EZELL on Tuesday night last, between the hours of 7 and 8 o'clock, while the proprietors and clerks were at supper. Fortunately there was but 40 cents in the cash drawer, and so far as the proprietors have yet ascertained, this constitutes their entire loss. (No insurance.) A desk drawer in the counting room, immediately adjoining an empty one plundered by the bold rascal, contained the total cash funds of the house, together with a couple of thousand dollars belonging to the estate of A. M. BALLENTINE, dec'd., of which W. F. BALLENTINE, of the plundered firm, is administrator. Almost every other nook and corner of the house gave evidence of having been searched, but no attempt was made at this drawer. The entrance was made through the back door of the basement story. A new iron safe in the back room is thought to have saved the drawer from search, although it contained nothing at the time, having just been received without a key with which to open it; but the thief supposing the money to be securely locked therein, did not think it worth while to extend his investigations.

Brevities and News Items.
A wag says of a woman—"To her virtue we give love; to her beauty and talent, admiration; to her hoops, the whole pavement."

Mrs. NEVES, an estimable lady who lived near Huntsville, Ala., was struck by lightning and killed, on Tuesday night, 20th inst.

THE Overton Hotel was sold in Memphis on the 24th inst. for 181,000. It will be refitted and made a splendid hotel.

A heavy fire occurred in Memphis on the morning of the 27th inst., burning down a whole block. The loss is estimated at $75,000.

THE Chicago Tribune says that "the President has shown his hand." Let the Tribune's faction show its hand—but wash it first.

THE reports of cholera in Mobile are doubtless without foundation; small-pox, however, prevails there to some extent, principally among the blacks.

THE Hampton Roads conference between President Lincoln and Secretary Seward, and Stephens, Hunter and Campbell, is published.

GEN. PEMBERTON, who defended Vicksburg against Gen. Grant, has purchased a farm in Virginia, which he is now cultivating.

NOTWITHSTANDING the total destruction of Cincinnati Enquirer office by the terrible fire of Thursday night, the enterprising publishers of that paper omitted but one edition.

GEN. LEE testifies before the Reconstruction Committee that there is nothing like a sentiment of hostility against the United States Government in Virginia, and repudiates the idea that cruelties were purposely inflicted on Federal prisoners of war.

A number of prominent citizens of Chattanooga left that place, last Wednesday morning, for Cincinnati, to confer with the Cincinnati Board of trade about building a railroad from that place to Chattanooga. Over $200,000 and 7,000 acres of land have been donated to the object.

NASHVILLE is said to have a larger number of daily newspapers than any other city in the world, New York, London and Paris not excepted. We had to read the item over two or three times before we could take it in. It seems, however, to be the fact, and is certainly highly creditable to the Nashville press and its patrons.
